

U.S. Patent Application
In re. Tom Killian
Attorney Docket No. 2000-0093 (2685/5434)

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system has a switch that allows virtual private networks to be created dynamically. The system includes at least one network. The system also includes a computer having an address. The system also includes a plurality of ports for receiving the computer. The system also includes a switch that assigns one of the plurality of 5 ports to a private network according to the address of the computer. The switch assigns the port by correlating the address with an address list.
